

I am a Flight Attendant and do not want to see cell phone use on airplanes. I would agree to DATA use of a cell phone only. When people are talking in the cabin it can get very loud as they are talking over the engine noise. Can you imagine having a full plane all talking on their cell phones and competing against each other to hear? The cell yell would be greater than most public places. Most passengers want to relax on the plane or play catch up with their paper work. Give them DATA capabilities, not VOICE.
